

History of Clement Miner

Clement Miner was married a couple of times. Clement was married, to an unknown lady, because in those days people frowned on having eight or nine children out of wedlock. There were either eight or nine children from this union depending on what account you wish to follow. He married second to Sarah Pope and had two children. He was buried March 31, 1640, eleven years after Thomas Miner his son left home for America.