History of John Jackson

John was born in England about 1608. He was one of the first settlers in Ipswich, Massachusetts, in 1635. He became a freeman 2 June 1641.

In "Pioneers of Massachusetts", by Pope, it says, "John Jackson, Ipswich, proprietor 1635. Inventory of his goods and estate 18 July 1648. Administer granted to widow Katherin, one son and five daughters all under 21 years; her husband to be in possession of the estate, being up the children and pay them their portion when due."

Katherin, his wife, married again before she settled the estate.
